Ulrich Kemp leaves T-Systems

After over three years' service, Chief Operating Officer (COO) of T-Systems Business Services, Ulrich Kemp (46), has decided to leave the company at his own request for personal reasons. "As well as thanking Ulrich Kemp sincerely for the work he has done, I would also like to wish him all the best and every success in his future professional career," stated Reinhard Clemens, Chief Executive Officer T-Systems and Director, Business Customers at Deutsche Telekom.

Successor to Ulrich Kemp as acting head of the Business Services sales and Support organization is Norbert Hölzle (41), who has held various leadership positions within T-Systems since 2004.

Mr. Kemp was responsible for operative business at T-Systems Business Services, which has around 160.000 medium-sized business customers. In his capacity as COO, he managed the entire sales structure, as well as Service Management and TelCo Operations. Particularly in the highly competitive domestic telecommunications market for business customers, Mr. Kemp made a major impact in successfully expanding IT business. Overall, Ulrich Kemp can look back on a successful career in the IT and TC sector, spanning a good 20 years. Before joining T-Systems in 2004, Ulrich Kemp was Executive Vice President Central Europe and a member of the Executive Councils at Fujitsu Siemens Computer.

About T-Systems

T-Systems delivers high-quality services combining information and communication technology (ICT). The company's broad expertise in both fields makes the business customer division of Deutsche Telekom a preferred partner for multi-national corporations, small and medium-sized businesses and public institutions. Over 160,000 customers from every industry worldwide benefit from the company's special expertise in providing integrated ICT solutions from a single source. T-Systems is the only company to offer its own complete ICT portfolio and to combine IT and communication technology to produce new solutions.
